The Ocean Waltzes
By Katie C

The Ocean dances to a slow waltz as the clouds pass by upon the blue sky

The fresh breeze touches my skin with silence and hope
The tears of life so far away
Holding back the fears that come our way
The spray of the ocean that pleasantly salts my skin

The pink sun fresh and crisp with the trust of a new day
The waves roar along the shore, a tango of sorts Reciting a line of a story each time they flow by

The sentimental sand gives warmth like the morning dawn sun rise
That is so innocent and that holds no lies

The smell of the ocean so clean and new
Holding the still and tranquil remembrance of the past
Of the time when we were all together once again at last

But now its time to go our own ways
Just like the ocean dancing away
