

Friday Update
January 30 – February 3, 2012

Joke of the Week – How do students get straight As?

Word of the “Week” ~ I’ll ignore that last barb about my hat, except to say that you have no feeling for presidential history.

Ask Me About

-math – ordered pairs and coordinate grids, angles (acute, right, obtuse, straight, reflex), using full-circle and half-circle protractors

-reading - A Tough Nut to Crack, Sarah, Plain and Tall, Peppe the Lamplighter

-writing – the three pillars of poetry: emotion, imagery and music

Mark Your Calendars

-Jump Rope for Heart – Tuesday, February 7

-Wednesday, February 8 - Scholastic book orders are due!

-Wednesday, February 8 – math unit 6 assessment

-Tuesday, February 14 – Valentine’s Day! Please make sure your child has 21 Valentines to share with his classmates. Valentines can start being sent in on Thursday, February 9.

Extras

-Please check in with your child to see if his pencil and pen supply needs to be replenished.

- Check out this website to determine the Lexile level of thousands of books.

<http://www.scholastic.com/bookwizard/>

- Karren Melfi, 973-838-1881, ext 117, melfik@kinnelon.org